

BAHMÜLLER strengthens its sales force with Michael Seidel in the South-East of the USA

BAHMÜLLER is a leading international supplier of corrugated box manufacturing machinery and automation systems.

To support the further growth on the American market, BAHMÜLLER is happy to announce that Michael Seidel strengthens the sales activities in the South-East of the USA beginning April 1st.

His technical expertise in the field of corrugated board converting is the perfect fit to strengthen BAHMÜLLER's sales force in North-America. His location in Greater Atlanta guarantees a close and direct contact to our customers in the the South-East.

We wish Michael much success and look forward to exciting and successful projects.

For more details about BAHMUELLER visit our Website: www.bahmueller.de